Definitions

Credit hour (definition from the U.S. Department of Education): An amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than:

- One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
- At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution, including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.
- Credit hours can be rounded to the nearest half-credit.
- The total hours of instruction should be used to determine credit hours for courses offered in summer session or any term that is not approximately sixteen weeks in length.

Semester: MCSHS operates on an academic year divided into two semesters of approximately 16 weeks each (fall and spring) as well as a summer session which is variable in length.
