

Faculty Misconduct Policy

Scope

Applies to Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and Science (MCCMS) faculty and learners when interacting in the learning (academic and clinical) environment.

Exception:

Faculty when teaching for Mayo Clinic School of Continuous Professional Development.

Purpose

- To ensure the highest standards for faculty conduct and to address allegations of misconduct.
- To address potential violations in scholarly expectations, conflicts of interest, instructional responsibilities, and the protection of academic freedom for learners.

Policy

- All Mayo Clinic learners, faculty and employees have a responsibility to foster a learning environment with the highest level of ethical and professional standards and one in which all individuals are treated with respect.
- Faculty-learner relationships carry risks of conflict of interest, breach of trust, abuse of power, and breach of professional ethics. For these reasons, a faculty member must not engage in any romantic and/or sexual relationship:
 - With a student enrolled in the Mayo Clinic Alix School of Medicine, Mayo Clinic Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences, and/or the Mayo Clinic School of Health Sciences, or
 - With a Mayo Clinic School of Graduate Medical Education resident or fellow over whom the faculty member has academic or supervisory authority.
- Faculty members must not assert any supervisory academic authority with respect to a learner who was the subject of a previous consensual romantic and/or sexual relationship.
 - When a faculty/learner consensual relationship exists or has previously existed, the faculty member must decline to participate in any evaluative or supervisory academic activity with respect to the learner per the Significant Personal Relationships in the Workplace Policy.
- Relationships between faculty and learners must avoid the appearance or incidence of discrimination, intimidation, favoritism, conflicts of interest, exploitation or bias.
- Faculty will promote integrity and fairness in the learning environment and will ensure learner academic freedom.
 - Learners will be fairly evaluated and promoted based upon unbiased assessments of their performance.

- All Mayo Clinic learners, faculty and employees are obligated to report faculty misconduct they observe or have reason to suspect.
 - Reports of misconduct may be made to the medical director, program director, school ombudsperson, school administration, dean, executive dean, or Compliance Hotline, when appropriate.
 - Program directors, medical directors, Title IX coordinator, and ombudspersons are required to report all allegations of faculty misconduct to the school administration.
 - Reports to the Compliance Hotline will be assigned to the Administrator for the Office of Continuous Accreditation, Licensure and Compliance.
 - Reports to the Title IX Coordinator will be addressed following the Title IX Sexual Harassment Complaint Resolution Procedure.
- School administration will conduct an inquiry into the allegation(s) to assess the merits and severity of the allegation(s).
- College personnel assigned to address alleged charges of faculty misconduct are required to do so in a fair and objective manner, taking care to respect the rights of all parties involved within the process of due diligence.
